

Summer Student

The Gorman Group is a forward-thinking, innovative forest products company with five divisions spanning the Interior of BC and Northern Washington State. We believe that our people are the foundation of our success, and we value the unique contributions of every employee. That's why we offer competitive wages and—most importantly—safe and rewarding work environments.

We are looking for 2 Summer Students to join our Woodlands Department, Princeton Division for Summer 2026 (May–August). This role provides a mix of field and office experience and is a great opportunity to gain hands-on knowledge in harvesting, silviculture, road construction, and environmental management. You'll work alongside experienced mentors, gaining valuable insight into the forestry industry. This position runs Monday to Friday and offers an excellent opportunity to build real-world skills, work with industry professionals, and explore a career in forestry.

Reporting to the Silviculture Supervisor, Woodlands, and working under the guidance of Woodlands staff, your responsibilities will include:

- Environmental Management System and fire tool audits of contractors.
- Contract supervision (site prep, planting, brushing, surveys, cone collection, and burning).
- Silviculture surveys and treatment layout.
- Cutblock and road layout.
- Road inspections.
- Data entry into silviculture databases.
- Mapping and use of ArcGIS.
- Other forestry related duties.

QUALIFICATIONS:

- One or more years of study and currently enrolled in Forestry, Environmental Science, or similar program.
- Valid driver's license.
